

Saunterings

The line from "Dudelsack," "Once a lady, always cautious," had a local application recently when a number of the good fellows who belong to the Governor's club took it upon themselves to go to an evening paper and explain that a perfectly good Turkey-trot-Bunny-hug-Texas-Tommy cotillon would be given, and the paper told the news in this way:

"The first real 'ragtime' dance for Salt Lake City society will take place tonight in the Odeon. The Governor's club will be the host of the unique Washington day party, and many prominent in Salt Lake's younger set will attend.

"The young people of this city are just ripe for such an affair. Girls as well as boys are 'dippy' over the fantastic steps of the grizzly bear, bunny hug, turkey trot, Texas Tommy, angleworm wiggle, squab dip, coyote glide, and numerous other dances that have come into prominence during the winter and taken the breath of society people, young and old.

"As yet no dance has been given here for the sole purpose of accommodating the 'raggers,' which makes the Governor's club dance of tonight all the more attractive."

In the meantime another faction of the Governor's club, after reading the above, worried a little as to just how it would be received in certain quarters and so after the dance, as described in the Telegram preceding it, a committee called on the Herald-Republican and in consequence the following appeared in that paper:

"Members of the Governor's club entertained several hundred of their friends at a social at the Odeon last night. The evening's pleasure was somewhat marred by a statement appearing in an afternoon paper to the effect that disorderly dancing would be permitted. None of the members know where this report originated. There was no dancing."

The statement that there was no dancing was news to most of those who had been present, as they were under the impression that they had had a beautiful time, not at a social, but a perfectly good dancing party. It would be nice to have those in authority in the Governor's club explain for the benefit of their friends just what constitutes a dance and what a social.

What was probably the most beautiful and enjoyable dance given by the Utah club during the season, took place at the Odeon on Wednesday night, when in addition to the membership, a large number of their friends had been invited to join in the festivities.

Following the dance, numerous supper parties were given at Maxim's, the Louvre and the Hotel Utah. Those who received the guests during the evening were Governor and Mrs. William Spry, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Daynes, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lyman, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Snow, Professor and Mrs. J. J. McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Dale H. Parke, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wallace.

An engagement of interest to their Salt Lake friends was that of Miss Reby Bartley and Earl V. Daveler, which was announced at a tea given in Berkeley, California by Mrs. S. P. Bartley, mother of the bride-to-be. The wedding will take place early in the summer.

A beautiful luncheon was given on Tuesday by Miss Anna McCornick in honor of Miss Blanche Burke of Portland, who is the guest of Mrs. C. W. Whitley. It was given at the McCornick home on Center street, about a score of Miss Burke's friends being present at the delightful affair.

The Misses Helen and Rose Evans entertained thirty of their friends at a bridge tea at the Evans home on Wednesday, assisted by Mrs. Fred A. Hale and the Misses Dorothy Rooklidge, Virginia Beatty, Aline McMillan and Kate Groo. The same hostesses entertained at a second affair of the kind on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Salisbury have returned from California, where they have spent the past month in San Francisco, Coronado and Los Angeles. At Coronado they enjoyed the unique experience of a flight in an aeroplane and also a dip in the deep in a submarine, and they describe both sports as real thrillers. While it is possible that Mr. Salisbury will invest in an aeroplane to be used here during the spring and summer, he will not acquire a submarine as it is thought that the lake is not deep enough to make the experiment practical.

Numerous entertainments are being planned at the Fort for the remainder of the season following Easter. The ladies of the post have set the first Thursday in each month as their day at home, and plans are being made to give a fortnightly hop, alternating with bridge affairs every other Friday.

Miss May Robson and her manager, Mr. Fontaine, were the guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Palmer at their residence on Wednesday evening. Miss Robson is an old friend of Mrs. Palmer's and her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Milton Royle.

Mrs. T. A. Baldwin and Miss Katherine Judge arrived here from the east on Thursday and are at the Hotel Utah, where they will remain for some time. Their present plans are indefinite, but they will probably be here for a month or two. Their friends are planning a number of affairs to be given in their honor during their visit.
